Washington Square News

Managing Board

Neal Lipschutz Editor-in-Chief Karen Crowe News Editor
Mitchell Seidel Managing Editor Neal Winzeiberg Photography Editor

Business Manager
Howard Seligman

Associate Board

Daniel Aquilante Assoc. Editor Bernard Kennedy Assoc. Features Editor
Phil Caso Assoc. Business Mgr. Rabihah Abdul-Mateen Assoc. News Editor
Marilyn Feuer Assoc. News Editor Rafael Suarez, Jr. Assoc. Features Editor
Rick Telberg Assoc. Editor

Reporters
Anna Amato, Anne Blanchett, Jeff Bukantz, John Burr,
John Byrd, Steven Cocheo, Carolyn Darocy, Scott Einhorn
Leslie Gura, Linda Iannelli, Reinhardt Krause, Nancy Longo
Gabe Margitan, Sherril Mitchell, Phil Orlando, Dave Rudin,
Fred Strasser, Karen Schlosberg, Suzanne Wolfe, Carol Yanofsky

Photographers
Carey Birmingham, Bruce Burger, Jeffrey Smith,
Jeff Spitzer, Andrew Nguyen

Layout
Sherry Bass, Sam Berdecia, Joe Carrubas, Dodie Policari

The Washintgon Square News is published on Mondays and Wednesdays by the students of New York University. The office is located at 566 LaGuardia Place, Room 915, New York, N.Y. 10012
Telephone: Editorial (212) 598-3041, Business (212) 598-3043

LAW SCHOOL LEADERSHIP

The School of Law faculty took a bold and important step yesterday when it voted to ban firms from using the placement office facilities if they discriminate against gays or lesbians.

Any firm discriminating on other bases would also be banned, but the focal point of the debate yesterday at the law school concerned discrimination against homosexuals. While women and minority group members at least have the law to help fight hiring discrimination, gays and lesbians by and large are without that defense.

The law school's move may raise a question of governance within the university since the Senate last month declined to adopt such a measure for all schools. Instead of fighting the law school decision, the Senate should quickly follow suit and make the policy applicable throughout the university.

Washington Square News

Managing Board

Neal Lipschutz Editor-in-Chief Karen Crowe News Editor
Mitchell Seidel Managing Editor Neal Winzelberg Photography Editor

Business Manager
Howard Seligman

Associate Board

Daniel Aquilante Assoc. Editor Bernard Kennedy Assoc. Features Editor
Phil Caso Assoc. Business Mgr. Rabihah Abdul-Mateen Assoc. News Editor
Marilyn Feuer Assoc. News Editor Rafael Suarez, Jr. Assoc. Features Editor
Rick Telberg Assoc. Editor

Reporters
Anna Amato, Anne Blanchett, Jeff Bukantz, John Burr,
John Byrd, Steven Cocheo, Carolyn Darocy, Scott Einhorn
Leslie Gura, Linda Iannelli, Reinhardt Krause, Nancy Longo
Gabe Margitan, Sherril Mitchell, Phil Orlando, Dave Rudin,
Fred Strasser, Karen Schlosberg, Suzanne Wolfe, Carol Yanofsky

Photographers
Carey Birmingham, Bruce Burger, Jeffrey Smith,
Jeff Spitzer, Andrew Nguyen

Layout
Sherry Bass, Sam Berdecia, Joe Carrubas, Dodie Policari

The Washintgon Square News is published on Mondays and Wednesdays by the students of New York University. The office is located at 566 LaGuardia Place, Room 915, New York, N.Y. 10012
Telephone: Editorial (212) 598-3041, Business (212) 598-3043

LAW SCHOOL LEADERSHIP

The School of Law faculty took a bold and important step yesterday when it voted to ban firms from using the placement office facilities if they discriminate against gays or lesbians.

Any firm discriminating on other bases would also be banned, but the focal point of the debate yesterday at the law school concerned discrimination against homosexuals. While women and minority group members at least have the law to help fight hiring discrimination, gays and lesbians by and large are without that defense.

The law school's move may raise a question of governance within the university since the Senate last month declined to adopt such a measure for all schools. Instead of fighting the law school decision, the Senate should quickly follow suit and make the policy applicable throughout the university.